DETAILED ACTION

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: page 1 of the specification fails to state that this application is a 371 of PCT/JP04/10103 filed 07/15/2004.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim 4 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim cannot depend from any other multiple dependent claims. See MPEP § 608.01(n).

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the Japanese Patent (11-60592), the Japanese Patent (2000-191685), the Japanese Patent

Art Unit: 1623

(01-093562) or Sarkar et al (The Journal of Biological Chemistry, vol. 272, no. 41, pages 25608-25616, 1997) in view of Endo et al (U.S. Patent no. 5,569,464).

Each of the Japanese Patent (11-060592) and the Japanese Patent (2000-191685) discloses cholestanol glycosides useful as anticancer agents.

The Japanese Patent (01-093562) discloses sphingosine glycosides.

Sarkar et al disclose naphthalene glycosides (page 25610).

But, each of the cited Japanese Patents and Sarkar et al does not disclose said glycosides in the form of liposomes. However, since the use of liposomes comprising a phospholipids and a hydrophobic compound such as aliphatic amine and wide variety of drugs including carcinostatic agents, was well known in the art at the time the claimed invention was made as disclosed by Endo et al (column 2, lines 30-56, column 3, lines 57-67 and column 4), a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the claimed invention was made would have been motivated to prepare drugs disclosed by each of the Japanese patents or Sarkar et al in the form of liposomes for the purposes of stabilization of said drugs, slow release of drugs and targeting of said drugs (Edno et al, column 1, lines 15-30).
